MIRIAM KING/BRADFORD TIMES

One of Tayah's BFFs, Shai prepares to release balloons bearing wishes for Tayah.

Birthday Wishes to Heaven, for Tayah

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

Little Tayah Fairbrother's long battle with Neuroblastoma - her courage, her spirit, her smile - touched hearts in her community. There were fundraisers to help the family through an unbelievably tough time, as they dealt with the pediatric cancer, and prayers and wishes for Tayah.

On December 17, 2013, at the age of 5, Tayah passed away.

Her family has been determined that Tayah won't be forgotten, that she will continue to be part of her community. In 2014, her family held the first Tayah's Birthday Wishes to Heaven - a day of family fun marking Tayah's birthday, with raffles, silent auction, a giant community garage sale and barbecue, raising money for other families struggling with pediatric cancer.

The third annual Tayah's Birthday Wishes to Heaven took place July 10, at the Canadian Tire Store parking lot in Bradford. From 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., the community was invited to come out for a bouncy castle, fundraising barbecue, huge community garage sale, superheroes and Disney princesses, raffles and silent auction, fire trucks, a jousting ring, face-painting, and a balloon release, in memory of Tayah.

Elite Dance Corps - the dance school that Tayah attended - performed on the grass. DJ Wayne Jones provided the music, and brought Tayah's family to tears, when he played her song, Roar. And there was free birthday cake, served up by family members in celebration of Tayah's birthday.

This year's proceeds will be going to the families of three children, two of them from Bradford. Dominica (Nika) is only two and a half, but is battling Anaplastic Ependymoma, a brain tumour. Lukas, 5, has T-Cell Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia. And little Boglarka (Bogie), a 3-year-old from Tottenham, has Stage 4 high-risk Neuroblastoma - like Tayah.

Police Briefs

The Marine Unit has been responding to calls for assistance on Lake Simcoe, and checking boaters for compliance with safe boating regulations. On Sunday, July 10, officers checked a kayak being operated by a 54-year-old Innisfil male, and found that the man had no safety equipment aboard, and no personal flotation device (PFD) or lifejacket. The man was escorted off the lake and given a $235 fine.

On July 9, two brothers from Richmond Hill, in their 40s, set out for a day on the water in their kayaks, but got separated when a rain storm rolled up at 4:30 p.m. One man made it back to shore, but lost sight of his brother and after a four-hour search, called police. Marine units from South Simcoe and York Regional Police began a search, joined by a helicopter from Durham Regional Police. The Joint Rescue

Co-ordination Centre in Trenton was also involved. Just before midnight, the missing brother was found, after he swam to shore in Gifford. Police credit the PFD he was wearing with saving his life; the man was in good condition, and did not require medical attention. Police are reminding all boaters to carry all required safety equipment on board their vessels – and to wear a PFD or lifejacket.

Hail storm causes damage

After weeks of drought, farmers finally got rain — but also high winds and damaging hail, as a severe thunderstorm swept through Bradford and the Holland Marsh on July 9, shortly after 7:30 p.m. Golfball-sized hail not only dented cars and damaged roofs — leading to thousands of insurance claims filed, as a result of the storm — it also shredded crops in the fields, including onions, lettuce and carrots in the marsh.

"2 Surprising FACTS about Hearing"

FACT 1 - The brain needs stimulation from the auditory system to remain healthy
FACT 2 - Untreated hearing loss (not wearing hearing aids when required) leads to higher rates of developing dementia

The results of a 25 year study* have found that wearing hearing aids stimulates the brain and is important for improved communication and socialization resulting in a healthier brain.

*Amielev, et al. Journal of the American Geriatric Society, Vol 63, Issue 10, Oct 2015

The newly released OPN hearing aid circuit has been shown to dramatically improve how people hear and remember! It is the first hearing aid designed to assist the brain with understanding. Studies show that the OPN provides: 30% better speech understanding (even in very noisy environments) 20% less listening effort (reducing the load on the brain in noisy places) 20% more capacity to remember (freeing up mental resources to recall more without asking for repetition)

Point of View

No time for complacency

Canadians are proud of the country's celebration of diversity and multiculturalism - what has become a culture of mutual respect, acceptance, and shared heritage.

But this is no time to be smug, or complacent. Canada's multicultural tapestry is and has always been a work in progress. There have always been dark undercurrents of intolerance, bigotry and racism - whether in the past, like the Komagata Maru incident of 1914, when the ship and 352 of its passengers of Punjabi descent were refused entry to Canada, or the present, when Muslim women wearing Hijab are attacked, or First Nations students in Thunder Bay feel threatened by racism.

We need to be vigilant. We can't ignore those actions that threaten to demean our citizens, old or new, simply because of their origin, race, or religion. We each need to address feelings of prejudice - whether we observe them in a public setting, or in ourselves.

Multiculturalism doesn't mean compromising Canadian values or laws; it means finding common ground.

It doesn't mean excluding some groups; it means finding ways to include all groups, and open a dialogue that will let us see each other as human beings - that will let us reach out, and share our celebrations, our joys, our sorrows, dreams and hopes.

Because at heart, we all want the same things: A safe place for our children. A place where we can have dignity and a decent life. Where we can be part of a community. Where we can make a difference. Where we can love and be loved.

We should not fear the stranger. We should welcome the stranger, as a friend and as part of the Canadian family.

MIRIAM KING/BRADFORD TIMES

There was a special presentation at the Canada Day celebration, in addition to the Town of Bradford West Gwillimbury Civic Awards. MPP Julia Munro, acting on behalf of the province, presented BWG Councillor Peter Dykie Jr. with the Long-Standing Service Award, normally presented to a member of council who has served 25 consecutive years. Dykie has served 31 consecutive years as a member of municipal council. "I can't believe how the years have gone by," said Dykie, accepting the award, expressing pride in his town and the changes that have taken place.

Letters to the Editor

VANDALISM IS THE PROBLEM

To the editor: After reading the Point of View in the June 30 edition of The Bradford Times, I'd like to start by saying that I agree with what was said: It's just that there is another issue that plagues the flower displays. It's called vandalism.

I live in the downtown area, and I love the fact that the town takes the time to put out baskets and planters every year. It makes the downtown area feel special.

The problems arises when these arrangements are damaged almost daily by vandals who think it's cool or fun to turn the planters over, or pull out the plants, leaving a trail of devastation in their tracks. There's been many an early morning when I'm out walking that I've actually picked up an over turned planter - and more recently, replanted a centerpiece that had been ripped from the middle, and left several yards from its original spot.

I have recently come to enjoy gardening. It's both relaxing and rewarding to see the beauty that comes from all your work. Unfortunately, this isn't shared by everyone. This is the problem that plagues the downtown, not the planters themselves.

CATHERINE GILES
BRADFORD

OUT OF CONTROL

To the editor: So, our little town has now transformed into a much larger town and shows little sign of stopping.

It now resembles any cookie-cutter town you can find off any exit on the 400 Series highways. There appears to be no limit on how many humans you can pack into an acre of land. My 30-minute commute has now doubled to at least an hour, so I have the time to reflect on the changes to my community.

The dust constantly drifting from construction sites onto my vehicles and into my home acts as a constant reminder of this transition. There is no need for an alarm clock in the morning any more, as the hammering drowns out the birds and I am able to get up on time. I start my commute on Melbourne where I can sit at two recently installed red lights. There is nothing more invigorating than sitting solitary at a red light with no other vehicles in sight; then I can pull up another 100 yards to the light in front of the police station and repeat the process.

There are other amusing aspects of this "nouveau town" - including the driving maze at the Home Depot Plaza, the Canal Rd. gauntlet, the Yonge St. gridlock in and out of town, and the endless 400 southbound wait off 88 in the mornings. All in all, this is a pretty fun place to drive now.

The original town expansion plan was sold to citizens as a positive. Sure, we'd have to endure a decade of inconvenience, but it would all pay off in the end. We'd have increased amenities and an industrial/commercial tax base which would result in stagnant or decreased taxes for Bradford's patient citizens.

I'm absolutely sure those tax reductions are in the works, and will soon appear, so at least I have that going for me.

Under the Planning Act, all municipalities in Ontario are required to have an Official Plan. An Official Plan is a policy document that articulates the goals and objectives needed to manage the physical changes of land use in a community. Its policies are intended to reflect the desired social and economic outcomes of a community, and their linkage with the natural environment. It is the basis for all land use planning decisions in the Town.

Since the last review and update to the Town's Official Plan there have been a number of changes in Provincial and County land use planning policies. Therefore, the Town's Official Plan needs to be updated to recognize these changes, and to ensure its policies reflect the current and future needs and goals of the community. The review is planned to be conducted in two phases, as below, and the above meeting is the first of many opportunities for the public to contribute to the Official Plan Review.

Phase 1 - Anticipated for completion in Fall of 2016, includes the following items:

- Employment Lands • Downtown Revitalization
- Growth Projections and Housing Mix • Seniors Housing

Phase 2 - Anticipated for completion by the end of 2017, includes the balance of policies, such as:

- Residential Lands • Commercial Lands
- Community Uses • Infrastructure

Any person may attend this Special Meeting to make written or verbal representation in regards to what revisions may be required. Written submissions must be addressed to Council and directed to the Director of Corporate Services / Municipal Clerk, as below.

Public meeting for townhome proposal

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

A public meeting under the Planning Act was held June 7 to hear the Zoning By-law Amendment application by BMA Developments for two blocks of land within the Brookfield Phase 5/BMA Phase 2 plans of subdivision.

The blocks are designated Low Density Residential (a designation that permits detached, semi-detached and street townhome construction) but are currently "frozen" as "Future Development" in the Comprehensive Zoning By-law. Before construction can begin, they must be rezoned, to R2.

At the public meeting, plans were presented for a total of 28 townhomes - two blocks of townhomes totalling 10 units fronting on Angela St., and 3 blocks of 6 townhomes each on Webb St. The vacant area between the two Townhome developments will be developed as parkland, by December 2017.

BMA also asked for an exception, that would allow some of the lots to be as small as 160 sq. m. - less than the Zoning By-law requirement of 170 sq. m. All of the Townhomes would be 6 metres wide, more than the minimum.

A number of written comments were received from area residents, concerned over potential increases in traffic volume, and arguing that Townhomes are not compatible with the adjacent existing single family detached residences.

Celeste Phillips, speaker for the developer, noted that the Townhomes represented "a marginal increase in the number of residences, and therefore a marginal increase in the number of cars."

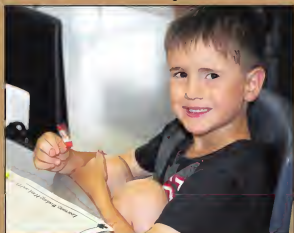

Councillor Peter Ferragine wanted to know if the homeowners who purchased single detached homes on the 2 streets were aware of the development planned for the lands across the road. He was told that two builders were involved; both advised buyers that the lands were zoned "future development" and would be developed; one (Brookfield) showed the property as "medium density."

On-street parking was another concern. Although BMA Developments Inc. submitted a plan, showing an abundance of on-street parking within the area, Councillor Marc Contois noted, "In winter, there's no on-street parking." He asked if there would be an opportunity to use some of the park allocation for an "off-street parking parkette", to alleviate the on-street demand.

Planner Alan Wiebe suggested the Manager of Parks & Facilities could "explore the feasibility of that." The comments were noted, and referred to staff for review and recommendation to Council, at a later date.

Connor, 5, enjoyed the Pancake Breakfast served up by MP Peter Van Loan and his volunteers in Sharon.

YOUR ROADMAP TO ALL THINGS AUTO

Driving

Launching a career

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

When Tara Andrews graduated from high school, she initially went to Ryerson University for Biomed studies, but left the program. "It wasn't what I enjoyed," she says.

What she really enjoyed was swimming. Tara's parents enrolled her in swimming lessons at Corrie's Swim Club, just outside of Schomberg, when she was only 2. Their prime concern was safety; they wanted to ensure that their daughter could swim, and be safe around the water.

Tara earned her instructor's badge at the age of only 15, and her lifeguarding certification at the age of 16 – but never thought of her skill in the pool as a possible career.

"I did not want to be a lifeguard or a swimming instructor for a long time," she says – right up until she volunteered as a Red Cross

Instructor in Aurora, working with Special Needs kids. Every Friday, she'd work with Special Olympians, teaching developmentally-challenged swimmers what they needed to know, to be proficient in the pool.

"It's what pushed me to want to be a great instructor," Andrews says, and helped her discover, "My passion is teaching!"

At the age of 17, she had a full-time summer job with the Town of Bradford West Gwillimbury, at the outdoor Lions Pool. "That was my first encounter with an outdoor pool," she says, working with "amazing" students and staff. "We lived in our bathing suits."

Tara has continued to work for the town, currently at the indoor aquatics centre at the BWG Leisure Centre, but her turning point came when she enrolled in the two-year Business Entrepreneurship Course at Georgian College. That's when it all crystallized, and she came up with the concept for her new "home business."

She developed the business plan for Beyond Buoyancy Aquatics, her own backyard swim school that will draw on her years of experience and skill as an instructor, to offer swimming lessons and First Aid training for all ages.

She was one of only a handful of students in her class at Georgian who brought their Business Plans to fruition. In fact, Andrews' drive and dedication earned her the Dale George Premier Award, presented to an outstanding student in the Business Entrepreneurship Program.

"You never realize how much your hard work and dedication mean, until you get a reward like this," she says. "It's pretty great!"

Andrews has the full support of her parents, who had Aquatouch Pools install a 20' by 40' pool in their backyard this spring. On June 20, at the age of just 22, Tara Andrews opened Beyond Buoyancy Aquatics, providing swimming lessons to "everybody who wants to be competent in the water," from kids, to adults who never learned how to swim, and especially "Special Needs" swimmers.

Beyond Buoyancy is about "more than just swimming lessons. It's a life skill. It gives kids confidence," Andrews says, adding that her goal is to see her students accomplish their goals.

Right now, Beyond Buoyancy is a seasonal business, and Tara is the sole instructor – but looking ahead, she hopes to expand the school, eventually hiring others who share her goals and views, and offering year-round classes in an enclosed facility.

And Andrews continues to work at the leisure centre. "I love it. The people are great... but at some point of my life, I hope that I can be running

BWG Mayor Rob Keffler prepares to cut the ribbon opening Crazy Crocs, joined by Deputy Mayor James Leduc, Councillors Gary Baynes, Ron Orr and Peter Ferragino, MPP Julia Munro, MP Peter Van Loan, restaurant owner Gianni Giannantonio and family.

Crazy Crocs offers entertainment, great food

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

Let's be clear: Crazy Crocs isn't a shoe store.

It's a family-friendly restaurant and entertainment centre, that offers great finger foods, pizza, and kid-tested snacks, but also an adult-friendly hot table, espresso and cappuccino, as well as games and activities for all ages, from pinball to Wheel of Fortune.

It's hilarious, lively, the perfect place for parties and get-togethers – and it's the brainchild of owners Gianni Giannantonio and his wife Debra Bridgell.

Giannantonio also owns a café in Toronto, "but not like this," he says. "I do amusement games for a living, and I'm a chef by trade." Crazy Crocs allows him to combine his two interests, to create a unique venue.

The official opening of Crazy Crocs, located at 126 Bridge St. in Bradford, was held July 2 – with family members and friends crowding the restaurant, to celebrate with the owners.

"The choice of food, I think, in itself is going to be an attraction," said MPP for York-Simcoe Julia Munro. "It sets a new standard, not only for a place to eat but for entertainment... Such a wide group of people that will be attracted here!"

MP Peter Van Loan also attended, congratulating the owners on the "much anticipated opening... We've been watching this spot," waiting for the doors to open.

Mayor Rob Keffler and members of council, and Nancy Taylor of the Bradford Board of Trade welcomed the new business to town. "It looks like a good place to eat, a fun place to play," said Councillor Gary Baynes.

Crazy Crocs, 126 Bridge St., is open to 11 p.m. during the week, 24 hours on Friday-Saturday. For more information, call 905-775-8510.

Festival of St. John

On June 25, the Portuguese Cultural Centre, at 767 Simcoe Rd., hosted Festas do Sao Joao – the Festival of St. John – starting at 1 p.m. with a soccer tournament, games for children and adults, live entertainment by the TLG Inc. (The Latin Group) and the band Meus-Meus. The centre served up family-sized platters of barbecue chicken, sardines, bifana and hot dogs, and invited everyone to come inside to watch the Euro Cup match between Croatia and Portugal. Portugal won 1-0.

Showcase finds a new home

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

There's no denying that outdoor festivals are vulnerable. They are at the mercy of the weather. It's too hot, too cold, too windy, and worst of all, it rains, a festival can face disaster.

Last year's Caribbean and South Asian Showcase (CASAS), held at Newmarket's outdoor Riverwalk Commons, was rained out – which is why the Ranji Singh Foundation decided on a change in venue, for the fifth annual multicultural celebration. This year's showcase was held indoors, with the exception of a bouncy castle and food trucks, at the Magna Centre on Mulock Drive, July 9 and 10.

There were other changes, beyond the shift from an outdoor to an indoor festival. While Saturday focused on the music and dance of the Caribbean and South Asia – from the Pan Fantasy Steelband, to Ballet Creole and Bangra – Sunday's event was a "melting" of cultures. Performers included Russian, Chinese, Venezuelan, Italian and Portuguese groups and musicians, providing a celebration of food, culture and music, that invited visitors to get up and dance.

The Ranji Singh Foundation

recently received Ontario Trillium Foundation grants, in support of both the CASAS event, and a community day of cricket, held June 26 in East Gwillimbury. The grants will also support the Foundation's "Cricket in Schools" program, introducing the sport to Canadian students.

"CASAS provides a powerful platform to nurture and acknowledge communities from around the globe," Ranji Singh has said.

"It's an opportunity to learn about and celebrate our rich ethnic diversity, as well as share in the opportunity for arts and cultural development."

The Town of Bradford West Gwillimbury, in recognition of multi-culturalism and the spirit of diversity, has proclaimed July 20 as Colombian Independence Day in the town. On July 20, 1810, popular protests in the streets of Bogotá against Spanish rule led to the eventual independence of Colombia. The Republic of Colombia was formed in 1819, when its independence from Spain was formally recognized.

opportunity for Canadians of Colombian descent to share and celebrate their rich culture, and be recognized for their contributions to Canada.

Pianist Vladimir Soloviev will be coming to Bradford on July 23.

Vladimir Soloviev, at the Bradford Centre for the Arts

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

About two dozen artists, musicians, dramatists, a videographer and church members attended a special open house at Bradford United Church, 66 Barrie St. in Bradford, early in June.

They were there to tour the church, built in 1865; help reimagine the sanctuary and 450 sq. ft. church hall as a potential "Bradford Centre for the Arts" - and propose a series of cultural events that could use the church building to its fullest.

The first proposed event will be "Beer and Bach" - a "lecture-recital" featuring pianist Vladimir Soloviev and flautist Catherine Willshire, discussing the meaning of Bach and Classical music in a community setting, with a cash bar. The lecture-recital will take place at the church on Saturday, July 23 at 7 p.m., and tickets are only $10.

It is Rev. Jim Keenan who has led the initiative to increase the use of the church, as a performance centre. The sanctuary, with its curved wooden pews and old plaster, offers "superb" acoustics, in a space that can seat 200 people, he said.

"We want to enrich the lives of residents, and provide affordable and quality practice and performance space."

Bradford United Church, while continuing to serve its congregation on Sundays, could also become "a welcoming and inclusive and accessible" space that would "increase opportunities for artists and audiences. The Bradford Centre for the Arts" he said.

Musician Paul Rumbolt, also a United Church minister, demonstrated the acoustical properties of the church to the group of interested artists. Unamplified, a whisper could be heard from the gallery; Rumbolt's voice and guitar filled the space.

"People spend millions of dollars trying to create this sound. It's a real treasure. It's the kind of thing that a lot of people would come to use," Rumbolt said. "It's like being inside an instrument - a fine cello."

Even the parish hall, home of teas and church supports, was seen as an ideal location for spoken word, open mic and workshop activities - intimate without being cramped, with good acoustics.

MIRIAM KING, BRADFORD TIMES

Facilitator Michele McCarthy, right, leads discussion at Bradford United Church, regarding a new Bradford Centre for the Arts on June 8.

Muscle lovers can hear for themselves on July 23. Tickets for Beer and Bach are available at Nancy's Nifty Nook, Evans DeVries Higgins, or contact 905-731-5335 or rekeenan@gmail.com.

Vladimir Soloviev completed his undergrad degree at Western University, where he twice won the Pattison Competition, and took second place in the London Music Scholarship Foundation competition. He completed a Master's degree at Eastman School of Music in Rochester, NY, and has since moved back to Toronto, where he has made classical music his mission.

With a versatile repertoire, stretching from Johann Sebastian Bach to contemporary composers, he is active as a soloist, chamber musician and educator.

Catherine Willshire took a B.A. in Music from Western University, and the University of Strasbourg in France, and a Masters in Musicology from York University and the Université Paris-Sorbonne, where she was First Flute with the Orchestre Symphonique Interuniversitaire de Paris.

Portugal Euro Cup Champions

HARRIAN KIM/BRADFORD TIMES

Portugal fans show their joy over the I-O Euro Cup Final win over France, taking to the streets in Bradford on July 10. The honking started in Bradford seconds after Portugal was declared the winner over France, in the Euro Cup final on Sunday. And within seconds, South Simcoe Police were in position with their cruisers, closing off a section of Holland St., and redirecting traffic in anticipation of the street celebration by Portugal fans. Having learned from the reaction to Portugal's previous wins, police diverted traffic at Church St., and at Dissette, essentially closing down the downtown core as hundreds of fans took to the streets, waving Portuguese flags and cheering. Portugal fought its way to the 1-0 victory, without star Cristiano Ronaldo — who was taken off with an injury, 24 minutes into the first. The game took 120 plus 2 minutes to decide, with Eder scoring for Portugal, at the 109 minute mark.

After a severe thunderstorm, with heavy rains, High winds and hail, swept through Bradford on Friday night, First Bradford Scouts decided to cancel their planned Yard Sale at Sobey's on July 9 - but went ahead with a Bottle Drive. Setting up a tent at The Beer Store in Bradford, Scouts accepted donations of empties - and brought in bags and boxes of bottles, collected door to door. The Scouts are fundraising to fund next year's Scouting Jamboree, being held in Halifax in 2017 - Canada's Sesquicentennial year. Donations are always welcomed; contact Lloyd George at 905-788-0809.

Paul James Band, in the park

BRADFORD TIMES STAFF

The Town of Bradford West Gwillimbury held its first Music in the Park event, sponsored by Vaughan Chrysler and Frank Caletta, July 7 on the grassy area outside the BWG Public Library & Cultural Centre.

About 100 people turned out for an evening of music that started with youth bands 'Standby' and 'Simp' Put', before Juno award-winning rock and blues legend, The Paul James Band took to the stage.

Paul James Vigna not only played foot-tapping, soul-stirring rock 'n' roll, he invited the audience to get up and dance - pointing to the grassy lawn: "This is a dance floor!"

There are three more outdoor concerts scheduled outside the Library in Bradford, on Thursday evenings.

■ July 21. The Rattles (a Beatles Tribute)

■ August 4. Neon Rain (Prince tribute)

MIRIAM KING/BRADFORD TIMES

Great summer evening, and great music by the Paul James Band, outdoors at the library in Bradford.

■ September 1. Hap Broderman Band.

The music starts at 6:30 p.m., featuring young performers from the York-

Simcoe Youth Music Festival. The main act will be on stage by 7:30 p.m. Bring your own lawn chair or blanket.

MIRIAM KING/BRADFORD TIMES

Golfing with the mayor

BRADFORD TIMES STAFF

The Mayor's Golf Challenge attracted 144-plus golfers to The Highlands Golf Club in Bradford, July 7, for a day of community fundraising, under sunny skies. The proceeds of ticket sales, sponsorships, auction and raffles were earmarked for Bradford West Gwillimbury's Community Grants program, to help local individuals, events and organizations build a better community.

It was truly a grassroots event, say the organizers, with golfers being served home-made gingersnaps, and handed gift bags that included a unique collector's item: a limited-edition, hand-crafted pewter ornament depicting the Old Bradford Town Hall

(now the Treasury Building) at 61 Holland St. East.

Winning foursome was the Paul Sadlon Motors team of Paul Sadlon Jr., Doug Harris, Owen Ferguson and Gary Lytle. Longest Putt winner, on Hole 18, was Tony DiPede, of North Rock Construction. There were no "hole-in-one" winners.

The event raised an estimated $30,000.

GABOURY, Mary E. (nee: Hester) passed away peacefully in the company of family at Southlake Regional Health Centre in Newmarket, on Monday July 4th, 2016. She was in her 88th year. Mary, born in Syracuse, NY, lived in Baldwinville, NY, California, Utah, and Montreal, QC, before finally settling in Bradford, ON. She was a kind and generous person who loved life. She showed her love of others through her actions, whether it was by following a friend's bad, teaching kindness for the sake of kindness, encouraging others to be the best they are, sharing an interesting article, cooking a good meal, or carving a face into an apple to make it special. Mary's final mission to her American family and friends was, "Don't vote Trump!" She will be missed.

Daughter of the late Donald Hester and Thelma E. Hester. Mary is survived by her beloved husband, Brian; daughters Heather and Ayr; grandchildren Zachary, Patrick, Elizabeth and Bridget; brother Robert (Kide); and nephew Jimmy. A Celebration of life will be held at the Roschouse & Rose Funeral Home, 157 Main St. S., Newmarket on Saturday August 20th from 1-3 p.m.

The family would like to thank Southlake Regional Health Centre for the incredible care they provided throughout Mary's battle with pancreatic cancer and at the end of her life.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Strohach Regional Cancer Centre or the palliative care ward of Southlake Regional Health Centre online at www.roadhouseandroses.com.

If only dreams could come true, I'd recall the special times That I laughed and cried with you I'd reach out & tenderly touch your beautiful face Feeling the love with enduring grace Oh, how I wish my dreams would come true Then I'd be at peace, just like you.

We remember.
Your love for family
Your passion for life
Your loyalty to friends
And test your love for your baby boy.

Running for a cure

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

Spinal Muscular Atrophy (SMA) is the number one genetic killer of children under the age of 2 – regardless of gender or race. SMA causes the muscles to atrophy, affecting the ability to stand, walk, and eventually swallow, and breathe.

One in 40 persons carries the gene responsible; 1 in 6,000 children are born with the condition; an estimated 13,000 children will die of SMA this year.

And there is no cure – yet. For the past 15 years, the Families of SMA Canada Society has been raising funds for research into the genetics, and possible cure, of SMA – holding the annual Rebecca Run for SMA, sponsored by ESSO, at Fairy Lake Park in Newmarket. The run, and an Angel Cade, have raised over $2.5 million for research, but families are still waiting to hear of the breakthrough that will give new hope to children struggling with the degenerative disease.

The Rebecca Run is named for Rebecca Grace Van Fraassen, diagnosed with SMA, and the first honouree of the run. Now 16 and in Grade 11, Rebecca is pursuing her love of the arts, and overcoming her challenges.

Almost every year since that first run in 2002, the Rebecca Run has chosen another child with SMA to be its face. In 2004, the honouree was Natalie McDonald, now 16. In 2005, the race honoured

Jamie Haapalainen and Abigail Lynn Lobach, “best friends in heaven,” who both lived just over four months.

Hayden MacIntyre, now 16 and interested in computer engineering and science, was honoured in 2006 – and continues to attend the Run each year, accompanied by his team, Hayden’s Heroes.

In 2007, the honouree was Sonja Natalia Stefanovic, who lived one day. In 2008, it was Max Vallender, who lived a month and a half.

SMA varies in severity. The most severe form, Werdnig-Hoffman Disease, often develops in the womb, and is associated with a shortened lifespan. In other forms, the onset of symptoms may be more gradual, and less catastrophic.

For the 15th anniversary Rebecca Run, a record 450 participants signed up for the 5K timed Run or 10K 3K Walk. The run, and an Angel Cade, have raised over $2.5 million for research, but families are still waiting to hear of the breakthrough that will give new hope to children struggling with the degenerative disease.

Emersyn’s Entourage, in memory of 2010 honouree Emersyn Paige Klomp, who died at the age of 7 months. Team Stella, running for 2012 honouree Stella Adele Bartlett, now 6 years old. Butterflies for Chloe, Quinten’s Crew, Abby’s Legacy, Sonja’s Striders, Marley’s Crew, walking for Marley Ann Guey who died at the age of 3 months, 18 days and was the 2011 Rebecca Run honouree. The A-Team, running for 4-year-old Asha Bulling, 2015 honouree.

Jose Carvalho, first across the finish line in the 5K Run.

Reading about the Honourees.

Determined! Taking the lead in the Kids' Run at Fairy Lake Park.

There’s a strong Bradford connection. In 2009, Sylvain-Nicholas Le Vasseur was chosen as the honouree. The 9 year old, who loved BMX riding, soccer, football and swimming, was diagnosed with SMA, and immediately began fundraising for a cure, and working to make residents of his town more aware of the disease. He was presented with the Bradford West Gwillimbury Civic Award for Youthfulness by the City, for his efforts – and for several years attended the run, which fell on his birthday.

Bradford Run Jose Carvalho has attended every 5K race since the run began. This year, he was accompanied by his brother Fernando, and the Carvalhos finished first and second in the 5K.

Instead of a single honouree, the 2016 Rebecca Run was a salute to all of the past honourees, whose images and stories were posted on a Wall of Honour. The words on one T-shirt summed it up: “Hope. Fight. Cure. Never give up”

Jack, who has SMA, and members of Team Jack's Journey warm up for the Kids' Run.
